CAVOLINE® CABLE MANAGEMENT SYSTEM BY DURABLE

Paperworld 2019, hall 3.0, stand B81 // Boxes with additional features // Self-adhesive clips with flexible holding capacities // Cable ties in various designs

Iserlohn/Frankfurt a. M., 26/01/2019: Computers, screens, printers, smartphones, tablets, chargers, lamps – modern office workplaces feature large numbers of electronic devices, which mostly come with mains or USB cables. That not only leads to ugly tangles of cables, but it can also easily become a tripping hazard. With the new CAVOLINE® range, DURABLE is offering versatile product solutions for routing and organising cables. It will be launched at Paperworld 2019.

All products in the series can be used flexibly and in combination with one another. Thanks to the high-quality and functional design of the products as well as their clear design vocabulary, they are the ideal modern aids for both office workplaces and the home office.

Into the box with you!

The new CAVOLINE® BOX makes efficient cable management possible and comes with with additional benefits. It allows you to stow a variety of mains and USB cables as well as socket strips safely and out of sight. Only the necessary lengths of cable are routed into the room via the lateral openings. The ‘Charging Dot’ is a special feature on the top of the cover that serves as an outlet and fastener for mobile phone charging cables – you can simply place your mobile phone on the lid while it is charging. The high-quality and elegant boxes are available in colours anthracite and grey and in SMALL and LARGE versions.

Clip and done!

Modern work – that also means constant changes. Where there is a desk now, there could be a meeting zone with high tables tomorrow. Employees move back and forth between different workstations and locations. The technical equipment and cables always have to move too. With that much movement involved, classic, fixed cable clamps are no longer an option. The CAVOLINE® range offers modern solutions.

The new CLIPS in various versions, sizes and colours can simply be stuck to all smooth surfaces. The strong grip guarantees a reliable hold. Developed for mains and USB cables, the clips can hold cables with a wide variety of diameters thanks to their flexibility. Cables with different diameters can also be routed together in a single clip.

Strapped up and safe

The CAVOLINE® range is rounded off by straps that let you group and tie up cables. The GRIP hook and loop straps are available in rolls of various widths for cutting to length individually, and as individual straps with pre-punched fastening lugs. Our tip: Colour coding helps you match devices and cables. Therefore, DURABLE offers the straps in different colours.
